DEADLY BOMB KILLED SIXTEEN BUT ALFONSO AND BRIDE UNHURT

Many Arrests Were Made Among Them the Principal Conspirator

THE MISSILE WAS HIDDEN IN A BOUQUET

Besides the Dead, Scores Were Wounded—It Is Thought Two Bombs Were Hurling One of Which Struck a Wire and Exploded in the Air.

Madrid, June 1.—The correspondent of the Scripps-McRae Press Association is assured by a high police official that the man who threw the bomb yesterday in an attempt to assassinate King Alfonso and his bride, Queen Victoria, has been arrested, and is now confined in the Mediodia police station. It is also stated on high authority that the prisoner has made a confession that he is the would-be assassin of their majesties.

The city which was only yesterday the scene of happy rejoicings in the celebration of King Alfonso's wedding, is today cast into the deepest gloom, caused by the attempt on the lives of the young monarchs. The people rejoice to think that the king and queen for whom the anarchists' bomb was intended, escaped, but the horror of the dastardly crime and the sorrow caused by the death of so many innocent victims, has unnerved the populace.

The people now have no heart for entering into the festivities which had been planned for the next ten days in celebration of the king's marriage and it is probable that the festal honors of Queen Victoria will be postponed.

It is impossible to convey to others an idea of the excitement which prevailed as soon as the attempt on the lives of the young rulers became known, or to describe the wave of indignation and resentment which swept over the people. Horror for the crime and sympathy for the intended victims of the assassin were the two emotions aroused in the breasts of all Spaniards. The king and queen were noticeably affected. As their majesties left the church they were radiantly happy and with smiles and bows acknowledged the exclamations of the people with animation and undisguised joy. When the young rulers reached the palace they were both in tears. They wept bitterly on account of the dastardly nature of the attempt upon their lives and because of the cruel butchery of the others, which they had been the unwilling witnesses.

They were calmed after a time, but their happiness had been damped by the horrible event. The place for making the attempt upon the rulers was chosen by the assassin with deep ingenuity and cunning. It was one of the most respectable quarters in the street, which at the point is only a dozen yards wide. The man who is regarded as the assassin at first engaged a room on another street, but he left there probably because there was no balcony to the house, and moved to the quarters he occupied yesterday. When the police investigated the room which the man first occupied, they found a powder syringe which smelled like bitter almond.

From the investigations of the police the following is known of the assassin. He is known variously by the names of Mateo, Molah or Manuel Dura. He engaged the balcony room of the house at 88 Calle Mayor, from which the bomb was thrown May 24, offering to pay $5 for the room if its occupants would move out temporarily. After securing the room the anarchist refused to allow any one to enter, alleging he was indisposed. Yesterday he ordered a big bouquet and it concealed the bomb which he hurled at the king's carriage. After throwing the missile the man stepped back into his room, quickly changed his hat, and escaped in the confusion caused by his act.

There was a wild cry of dismay and dread from the crowd as the bomb exploded and those who had been struck down fell in sickening numbers. Numbers of the editors and royal personages were in the wedding procession as well as many soldiers and citizens, and a rush toward the house from which the bomb had been thrown in the hope of catching the assassin.

King Alfonso himself, who was carriage was one of the first to engage in this attempt to reach the murderer. The king leaped from the royal coach and ran toward the door of the house, king in the breast, but its force was broken by its hitting the chain of the Portuguese Order of Santiago which the king was wearing. The chain was broken by the blow, but it stopped the bomb splinter and prevented it from entering the king's breast.

Madrid, June 1.—Just as King Alfonso and his English bride were nearing the end of the progress to the royal palace from the Church of San Jeronimo San Real, where they had been married three hours previously, a bomb narrowly missed ending their lives. An official statement indicates the possibility that two bombs were thrown, one exploding in the air by striking a telegraph wire and the other falling so close to the royal carriage that a groom at the head of the wheel horses was killed, as also were the wheel horses. At least 16 persons were killed and a large number wounded. Suspicion points to a Catalonian, named Manuel Duran, as the leader of the regicidal conspiracy and he is in prison waiting examination.

AUTO HITS CAR KILLS BANKER

Pendennis White, Buffalo Millionaire Was Victim of a Fatal Accident Thursday.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 1.—Pendennis White, a millionaire banker and lumber man, was killed, and Edwin A. Bell and Richard B. Lyman, stock brokers, were injured in a collision between an automobile and a trolley car on Hertel avenue. They were badly cut, but miraculously escaped fatal injuries. The chauffeur, who was on the back seat, escaped with a few bruises. Pendennis White was 48 years old. He was a member of the firm of White, Grater & Mitchell, wholesale lumber dealers of North Tonawanda.

FIVE WERE INJURED IN FREIGHT WRECK AT SANDUSKY JCT.

Sandusky, O., June 1.—Lake Shore railroad fast mail train No. 17 ran into a freight train at Sandusky Junction this morning, injuring five persons aboard the mail. The mail was wrecked.

The injured were taken to their homes on later trains. All were mail clerks except the engineer, who is badly hurt. The mail was made up at New York. It left Cleveland at 2:50 a. m. The train runs at high speed to maintain its schedule. The mails aboard are safe. The engineer and the fireman of the mail engine are as soon as they saw a wreck was inevitable. This probably saved their lives.

Engineer Wise claims the freight was stalled and did not have its flagman out far enough.

The crew of the freight say the mail had orders to run under control, looking out for the freight in the block. The injured are:

Engineer Cyrus Wise, Toledo
Fireman A. B. Bachman, Toledo
Mail Clerk H. E. Arthur, Norwalk
Mail Clerk Sherman G. Walton, Chicago
Mail Clerk A. G. Newton, Coldwater, Mich.

MOULDERS' STRIKE LIKELY AT DAYTON

Dayton, June 1.—Unless matters are speedily adjusted eight hundred moulders will go on a strike here. The bench men ask for nine hours—they are now working ten and $3 per day. An increase of 10 cents per day. The floor men ask for nine hours and 15 cents increase, on the day. It is claimed that 1,500 will eventually walk out.

OPERATORS ARE WILLING TO PAY THE 1903 SCALE

Will Probably Meet With Mine Leaders at Columbus Today.

Columbus, June 1.—Coal operators of Ohio who are resisting the demands of the miners met yesterday, and prospects for a settlement in Ohio are brighter now than at any time since the strike began. The operators expect the state miners' convention which will meet today to make overtures for a settlement and they are prepared to meet them in joint conference. The operators say they don't object to paying 90 cents a ton for mining the rate under the 1903 scale, which the miners demand if conditions are modified.

Ohio operators are willing to make a settlement along similar lines to those used in Illinois.

ALFONSO STRUCK

London, June 1.—The correspondent of the Central News at Madrid confirms the report that Alfonso was struck by a fragment of the bomb hurled at him but was miraculously saved by one of the decorations he wore.

According to this correspondent the fragment of the bomb struck the young

BARON ASKS $100,000 TO MARRY MISS MAGEE.

Miss Margaret Louise Magee.

Pittsburg, June 1.—Friends and acquaintances of Miss Margaret Louise Magee of this city, are discussing with great interest a report that the Baron Reidt von Reidenau of Austria, has received $100,000 in cash as a preliminary to his marriage to Miss Magee, which will take place here on Wednesday of next week.

Baron Reidt von Reidenau is an attaché of the Austrian embassy in Rome. According to gossip in society circles he demanded $250,000 before conferring a title upon Miss Magee, but upon being assured that this was considered preposterous he agreed to compromise on the smaller sum. It is asserted that he firmly refused to leave Rome without a pledge that the $100,000 should be handed to him on arrival, and it is understood that he has received the cash.

It is believed that nearly or quite all this money was supplied by the widow of Senator C. L. Magee, who has lived several years in Rome. It was Mrs. Magee who hurried Miss Magee away from Pittsburg when it was announced that the young woman was engaged to Richard Jenning, and it was Mrs. Magee who is credited with arranging the match with the Baron von Reidenau.

CHILD CREMATED BY PLAYMATES

BURNED AT THE STAKE AT A MOCK INITIATION AT MONTGOMERY, W. VA.

Terrible Tragedy in Which a Five Year Old Boy Lost His Life Thursday.

Montgomery, W. Va., June 1.—The 5-year-old child of Robert Maroney of Cedar Grove, Kanawha county, was tied to a stake and burned to death by playmates, who were emulating the characters in a mock initiation of the Red Men recently presented by members of the local lodge in the public hall at that place. The children, the oldest of whom is about 10, were arrayed like Indians, and the little Maroney child, who was the "jale fac," was seated and bound to a fence post. A quantity of bonfires were placed about his feet, saturated with oil and lighted, the flames communicating with the child's clothing, and in a moment the little body was wrapped in flames. The other children, realizing what they had done, struggled manfully to tear away the burning material and did rescue the child while still alive, but it was not immediately succumbed to its misdeeds.

THE REPORT IS DEMANDED BY THE PRESS OF COUNTRY

And It is Announced Officially That It Will Be Submitted to Congress Monday

CRITICISM AROUSES MAYOR DUNNE OF CHICAGO

The Public is Entitled to the Details of the Report of the Unsanitary Condition of the Chicago Packing Houses.

Washington, June 1.—It is officially announced at the White House that the President will send to Congress the report of the Neil-Reynolds commission on the Chicago packing houses, probably Monday.

Washington, June 1.—The general demand of the press of the country for the publication of the Neil-Reynolds report on the unsanitary conditions in the Chicago packing houses has been reinforced by strong editorials in the Washington newspapers.

The Post this morning under the heading "Let the Whole Truth Be Known," says:

"Such revelations as we have had in connection with the western meat packing concerns go far toward horrifying and astounding the American people. If the President has at his disposal information he owes it to the American people, whose affection and confidence he enjoys, to make a perfectly clean breast of it.

"If he has at hand the means of arousing and actuating Congress he can count upon whatever legislation the crisis may demand."

The Star says:

"The public is entitled to the details of the report now in the President's hands. Just why the whole matter has not been laid before Congress is a mystery which the people are unable to solve. More harm will be done to the industry by secrecy than by publicity. The public health is at stake. The people have a right to know how far they have been menaced in the past by the unclean processes of the packers and to be assured that the government is determined to root out these evils."

The Williams and Sulzer resolutions calling for the publication of the Neil-Reynolds report are in the hands of the House committee on agriculture where it is said no present action on them is contemplated. It is said today the President will send the report to Congress Monday with a special message on the subject. Members of the House committee are now busy discussing the proposed meat inspection law. Doubt is expressed in some quarters as to the constitutionality of any law as to the feasibility of certain parts of the Beveridge amendment. The leaders have agreed that a meat inspection measure must be adopted by the House, but they want it so framed that it will be thoroughly effective and stand the test of the courts. Representative Crumpacker, Indiana, who has introduced a bill on the subject, holds that the Beveridge amendment is unconstitutional in that it invades the police power of the states. He would confine the federal control to interstate and foreign business, leaving to the states the inspection of meats destined for local consumption. Another objection that has been brought forward to the Beveridge bill is that by placing the cost of inspection on the packers it would drive the smaller concerns out of business and centralize the industry in the big packing houses.

Chairman Wadsworth of the House committee has been in frequent conference in the past few days with the President's Commissioner Neill and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson. He predicts an effective and satisfactory bill will be reported on the committee within a week and that it will be passed promptly by the House.

the city that meets a large percentage of the meat diet of the world—the attitude of the official responsible for the appointment of Health Commissioner Whalen, who yesterday told the S. M. P. A. that tainted meat was sold with his sanction because 'commercial interests should get the benefit of the doubt in view of the fact that doubt exists as to whether or not tubercular cattle can transmit infection to those partaking of such infected meat.'

The papers of Chicago with two exceptions are silent upon the statement of Whalen beyond printing the "submerged tenth" column extracts with the inference that Whalen is right. Whalen, with added profanity and railings against the "long haired radicals" today reiterates his statement that Europe gets the best grade meat, American at large the second grade, and Chicago and Illinois what may be left. He made stronger than ever the statement that tubercular meat should be eaten as long as doubt existed as to its power of transmitting infection.

No official has yet appeared who agrees with Dr. Whalen. Interviewed from physicians in authority throughout the country continue to pour in, expressing horror at the situation. Dr. W. K. Jaques, former city chemist, who visited the stock yards with James B. Reynolds, the federal investigator, has this to say:

"No meat that is infected anywhere with disease is fit for food. I wonder whether Dr. Whalen would feed his family such meat knowingly. I wouldn't want to have him feed me. The selling of such meat to consumers is an outrage. It would be all right if beef known to be partially infected were sold with that understanding as it is in Germany. Over there restaurants sell such meat, but placards are posted showing such to be the case. These restaurants have a government license. Under such conditions, if people want to take a chance with it, all well and good."

This decision was reached at a committee meeting this afternoon by a vote of 5 to 3. ADDRESS MADE BY COL. CURRY

AT THE MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES AT THE AUDITORIUM ON MAY 30.

A Large Audience, Heard an Eloquent Tribute to the American Soldiers of All Wars.

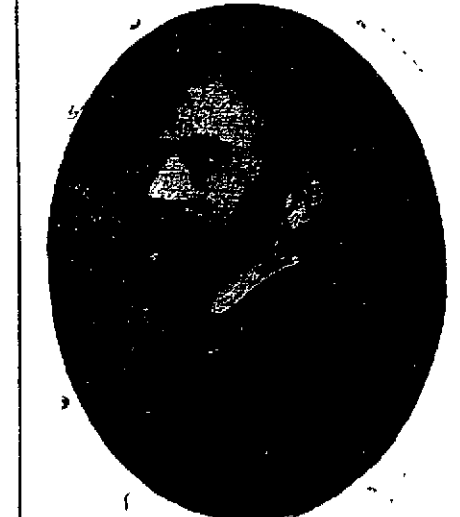

The address of Col. W. L. Curry of the Soldiers' Bureau, Columbus, late captain of the First Ohio Volunteer Cavalry, which was the feature of the memorial exercises in this city last Wednesday at the Auditorium, contains some interesting facts regarding Licking county's military history. The address follows:

The drums are beating and the soldiers are marching in every village, hamlet and city of our great country today.

Not the boys of '61 but the veterans of 1906. They were boys in '61, but today their heads are sprinkled with gray and their steps are not light, but limp. There is not as much fire in their eyes, but there is just as much loyalty and devotion, to the flag in their hearts.

We go back in memory more than 40 years retrospectively.

The drums and bugles are playing. The sun shines brightly. There were farewells to mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts, and they weep. The old men look sad. "Oh! we are just going to march to war," said the boys "and we will come back." Then there were tears and cheers, and off march the boys to the music of the boisterous drum. Then came the great battles, Gettysburg, Chickamauga and many others. The weary days, weeks, months and years drag along. Such long, anxious days, such weary nights, with news from the front and long lists of the names of the wounded and dead. Some of your boys were among the 300,000 who did not return. Today, you meet to strew flowers on some of their graves, and to weave a chaplet of love to those who sleep in the southland.

Two and one-half million loyal sons of the North responded to the call to arms, and fought the greatest war of modern times. As we meet today, my comrades, what memories of those stirring times come trooping thick and fast. The days from 1861 to 1865, when you were in camp, on the march, or on the battle line. You marched forth with bright new banners waving in the sunlight, with all the pageantry of glorious war. But when you returned, after four years of war, the scene was changed. Your ranks were broken; your banners were blackened with the smoke of battle; your once bright blue uniforms were faded by the southern sun and you were sunken heroes of many a hard fought battle field.

Such was the history of every company that went forth from this patriotic county.

Yours was a patriotic community. I have taken some pains to look up the record of the services of the soldiers who enlisted in this county and find represented the names of many prominent families, whose descendants have fought in all of our wars.

The "Honor Roll" of the soldiers who are buried in Licking county bears the names of some distinguished soldiers. At Cedar Hill there are buried two soldiers of the Revolution: two of the war of 1812; five of the Mexican war; 491 of the Civil war; 14 of the Spanish-American war, and nine Confederate soldiers, in all 143.

Almost every one of the old families of this county had some representatives in the war of the Rebellion, and many of their sons served in the Spanish-American war. Two soldiers, whose names now lie in Cedar Hill cemetery are honored heroes of two wars. Major D. A. B. Moore, killed in cavalry charge at the battle of Stone's river, and Captain Samuel Hamilton, who died but a few years ago. It was my fortune to serve in the same regiment, the First Ohio Cavalry, with these two officers, and gladly do I testify to their soldierly qualities and gallant conduct on the field of battle. Another soldier, who enlisted from this city, whose name I recall and of whose record in the army, this people may take a just pride, was Captain William H. Scott, a little Irish boy who also served in the First Ohio Cavalry. No braver soldier drew sabre in the cause of his country, and without disparagement to the services of any other soldier, I believe he was the bravest man I ever knew. He fell, "booted and spurred," with sabre in hand, leading a cavalry charge against a Confederate battery on the Atlanta campaign, August 20, 1864. No words can paint him here, as he rides ever in the old picture painted by himself on the canvas of his comrades' memory. He now sleeps in the National cemetery at Chattanooga, and the little mound with headstone marked "Captain William H. Scott, First Ohio Cavalry," catches the first rays of the morning sun as it rises above the hallowed heights of Missionary Ridge.

No kindred has ever visited it; no woman's tears have ever moistened it, but under that mound lies one of Newark's heroes, who rode like a centaur in to the jaws of death. Remember Bill Scott, the Irish boy, as the "bravest of the brave."

Among the many distinguished soldiers who enlisted from this county and who won fame on many battle fields may be named: General Charles B. Woods, General Wm. B. Woods, brothers, both of whom served in Licking county's home regiment, the 76th O. V. I., than which no better regiment nor braver men served during that war. More than a score of decisive battles are marked in blood upon their battle flag, and many of the survivors are honored citizens of this community. Many others who fought on hard contested fields, sleep in their "kreen tents, whose doors never opened again." Capt. Archibald Wilson, Col. Wehrle, Major Nathan Bostwick, Capt. McDougal, Capt. L. P. Corman, Capt. J. H. McCune, Capt. J. B. Vance and Capt. L. T. Nichols. There are scores of others, who carried the musket, the knapsack, dug the rifle pits, and fought in the trenches, whose names may not be written high on the scroll of fame, but the memory of their deeds are indelibly inscribed on the hearts of a grateful people which the storms of time can never efface.

Among the many regiments which had long and honorable service and in which many Licking county soldiers served, may be named the 3rd O. V. I., 12th, 20th, 23rd, 27th, 31st, 76th, 95th, 96th, 13th O. V. I., and the First Ohio Cavalry, and many others I do not now recall.

It is an old and true saying that "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country" and I have alluded briefly to the grand record of the soldiers who enlisted from this community to impress upon this audience the fact that you have in whom fought on every great battle field of the war. On this roll of honor in the regiments named were soldiers who fought at Corinth, Perryville, Stone River, Chickamauga, Vicksburg, Gettysburg, Chattanooga, Kennesaw Mountain, Antietam, Atlanta, "The Wilderness," and many of the great battle fields in Virginia.

Some of them marched with Sherman to the Sea, and some of them were at Appomattox when the two great commanders met and Lee surrendered his defeated army to Grant. They were your boys my fellow citizens, and well may you take a just pride in their deeds of valor and heroism.

In addition to the roll of honored dead, whose remains are buried in this vicinity, there is that other roll of honor of your boys, who sleep on the battle fields of the South, whose graves are marked "unknown." Their graves dot every valley, riverside and mountain of that great battle line. There is still living among you but a remnant of the old guard who stood for the flag of '61 and '65. They were the saviors of the nation almost half a century ago. Today their steps are halting; their forms are bowed with the infirmities of wounds, disease and age and their hairs are sprinkled with gray. Among whom may be mentioned, Woods, Inscho, Thomas, Lovett, Bigbee, Lemert, Kibler, Reese, Warner, Nash, Hunt, Williams, Marsh, Brown, Smith, Helsey, Bostwick and many others.

In recounting the deeds of our heroic dead, let us not forget another class of soldiers who could not enlist in the early days of the war, because they were bond men. But when Abraham Lincoln with one stroke of his pen, struck the shackles from their limbs they rushed to arms, joined their colored brothers, side by side with your sons, and freely gave their life blood in defense of the flag.

Let us not forget, it is well to recall some of our war history. In every war in this country, either offensive or defensive, the colored man has bared his breast to hostile bullets. They fought in the war of the Revolution, and the first man killed in that war was a colored man, Crispus Attacks. In the war of 1812 a colored regiment was organized by authority of General Jackson and fought valiantly and were thanked for their services in a public manner by the hero of New Orleans. During the Civil war 166 regiments and batteries of colored men were recruited for the Union army, and the total enlistment was 73,375.

They fought in many great battles of that war including Fort Wagner, Nashville, Port Hudson, Milliken's Bend, Fort Blakely, and the Crater at Petersburg. The loss in one regiment reached the appalling figures of 57 per cent. The total loss by death was 36847, or 26 per cent by death alone. Of the 178,090 enlistments, the loss was more than in the 213,180 soldiers who enlisted from Ohio. Their bravery in that war has become a part of our National history, our poetry and our song.

As the years come and go each Memorial day brings with it a strange feeling of reverence and patriotism to every man woman and child who loves our country. The farther we get away from the years of the war the better we understand its magnitude and the results wrought in that great struggle. It was American against American, and the courage displayed seems almost superhuman, and the wisdom and fortitude of the leaders almost divine. After 40 years, the people have just begun to understand the proportions of the war for the preservation of the Union, and to compare the wars of other nations, for where they had tens of thousands of men in the field, we had hundreds of thousands, that where other nations fought scores of battles, we fought hundreds, and where in other lands and wars men fell by the hundreds, here they fell by the thousands. In all of that great struggle more men fell on the field than England lost in hundreds of years. We fought more and bloodier battles than any other nation now in existence. It was a life and death struggle for existence, for the perpetuation of institutions dearer than life. Even the war of the Revolution did not stir the country to the depths as did the war of the Rebellion. In that war many of the people did not take any part in the struggle, some preferring to live under the British rule and remain loyal to the mother country. But the firing on the flag at Sumter seemed to be a summons to every man personally. It summoned 20,000,000 loyal people of the north in a contest that has no parallel in history for determination and bravery.

Statistics are dry, but they are the only guide to go by to enable us to comprehend the magnitude of the war. On an average the northern states sent one-eighth of their population to the field during the war, or one soldier to every eight persons, men, women and children, or four fighting men for each male person. Infants, school boys, old men and cripples. The whole land was one vast recruiting station, and the whole country was engrossed in that one great duty of putting down the rebellion. The loyal people talked of nothing else, thought of nothing else and read of nothing else, for there was scarcely a family but had some one doing battle for the Union. Nearly 140,000 were absolutely killed in battle, 300,000 were wounded, 200,000 died of disease, and 71,000 died in rebel prisons. When we think of the aggregate losses they are appalling.

And what was Ohio's contribution? The total number of enlistments from Ohio during the war of the rebellion was upward of 317,000, and of this number 78,213 suffered some casualty. Killed in battle, 11,237; died of wounds and disease, 23,887; total deaths, 35,124.

The aggregate casualty was a little over one in four and the ratio of deaths in action was 37 per thousand men.

What a picture of those heroic days hangs in the gallery of our memories! More than a quarter of a million souls of the best and bravest in our land lay down in death; the bright and enthusiastic boy, the young man just starting out in life, perhaps filling his first station of profit or of trust, just catching the first whisper of fame, and the middle aged man surrounded by the monuments of his own labor, and to whose skirts hung wife and children, far dearer than life—all went down gladly unto death.

A large majority of the soldiers who fought the battles of the war, were boys as it is shown by the statistics that their average ages were less than twenty years. They stood in the first flush of youth when all the world seems glorified and life but a long expanse on ennobling virtues.

They were at the very threshold of real life when the gates of manhood were opening wide before them and the future seemed as bright to them as to the young men assembled here today. They each and all heard the bugle call to duty in their quiet civil life on that April morning in 1861, and were transformed into heroes and met the most heroic fate of all the centuries.

In all the bloody annals of that four years' war, they were true magnificently patient in waiting and hopeful in defeat; they more than fulfilled the expectations of their leaders. The recruit became a veteran. The citizen a drilled and obedient soldier; the quiet gentleman, and farmer boy, stormed in battle like one of the old guards at Waterloo and died heroically for the grandest cause for which men ever laid down their lives. Generals blundered, but the rank and file the men who carried the musket, the knapsack, the carbine and the sabre never faltered, they simply obeyed and died.

Died in the ranks without hope of promotion; without a murmur and without a regret. How valiantly they fought, how serenely and sublimely they died. Your fair haired and bright eyed boys, my fellow citizens, rushing like an enraged god into the red storm of battle is stricken on the field and gasps "mother" and "country," and dies with a smile on his face. He may have sent a last message home to loved ones, father, mother or sister bidding his comrades fight on, and died with his eyes on the old flag, that floated in triumph over the smoke and terror of battle. Some widow may be here today, or some child of a soldier but now grown to manhood or womanhood, whose father may have fallen upon the field and with tender and fast glazing eyes, he looks on the sacred picture of wife and child and dies with a prayer on his lips for those loved ones and the country to whom he has given his life. This is no imaginary picture, my fellow citizens, but a true picture of the scenes enacted on every battle-field as witnessed by many comrades here today, and of which they were the actors.

How can the living repay the debt and sacrifice of these men? Shall we forget those whom they loved? Shall we forget the silent sufferers at home, whom the death of husband and father have bereaved of the proudest hope and the strongest stay of life. They are the nation's wards; they are the proud heritage of a grateful people received at his hands, after he had given youth, strength and life itself to the cause of human liberty. Let it never be said that the Great Republic is ungrateful of their services, their deeds and their sacrifices. Let us, in the words of the immortal Lincoln, "remember him who bore the brunt of the battle and care for his widow and his orphan."

Over some graves today is written the word "unknown." There is no pathos in war like that which surrounds an unknown grave. "Unknown"—what volumes in the word; dying alone with no voice to cheer; no form to look upon, no last words to any human being, no sight of the flag, no touch of a comrade's hand and to lie forever with a grave unvisited and unwept by tears of any one he loved on earth.

Perhaps he had a mother or sister, yet the light of woman's eyes shall not shine upon the sod, nor her voice teach her children to pray above his grave.

There is another class of graves today whose devoted occupants should win our prayers and tears since we cannot reach them with flowers. In the gloomy and forbidding woods that was once the prison pens of Andersonville, sleeps more than 31,000 of the noblest heroes of the war—1080 of whom were our own Ohio boys. It was not given to them to fall in the hottest of the fight, but they were torn with hunger, racked with disease, exposed to the storms of winter without blankets, huddled together they waited heroically and with divinely courage for the end that so surely came. Day after day they bore their comrades out silently to their shallow graves. How true they were. One word spoken against our government would have opened the gates to them but they disclaimed it and died by thousands. The story of their lofty courage shall enter like a benediction the souls of all our youth and consecrate them forever to the service of their country, saved by such high and holy blood.

While the children and young people who are here today to take part in this beautiful ceremony of strewing flowers on the graves of those who fought in that great war, know nothing of it, excepting what they have read in history or by story and song from the older people, yet you have a deep interest in this ceremony. You know that these men gave up their lives on the field of battle that you might enjoy the blessings of a free and united country; you know that they died for the old flag that waves so proudly over every school house in this country.

While the flag is but a piece of cloth or bunting and perhaps of little intrinsic value, yet that flag lures men on to battle and leads them into the very jaws of death. From time immemorial the flag or banner has not only been a rallying point of soldiers in warfare but an inspiration in battle. When first the Hebrew nation, as a nation was tested in battle at Rephidim, Moses told Joshua that he would stand on the hill top overlooking the battlefield holding the uplifted rod by which he had wrought victory in every moral conflict with the Egyptians, as a standard which should be a promise of God's favor.

So long as that standard was borne unflinchingly, the Hebrews had courage and confidence and prevailed over the Amalekites but when it wavered and went down, the Hebrews were overborne. And when the victory was won Moses built an altar on that battle-field hill-top and called it "Jehovah, the Lord is my banner."

It is eminently proper that the men who saved us as a free and powerful nation and a stainless flag, should receive the sincere admiration and gratitude of our entire people at all times and it is no less proper that on one day of the year we should bring flowers to decorate these mounds of our dead heroes, and thus manifest our gratitude and love for those who sacrificed so much that our country might be preserved.

Let us therefore continue for all time to come the custom inaugurated by General John A. Logan thirty-eight years ago, and thereby teach future generations the emulation of the glorious deeds of their fathers and a pure patriotism which will keep our country in the front rank of all the nations of this world. A short time ago, I visited some of the great battle-fields of the war where some of the

Taken to Hospital. Henry Pennart, of 136 South Fifth street, was taken to the St. Francis Hospital at Columbus on Thursday night to be treated for pneumonia. He is a German and is a comparative stranger in this city, having been here but a short time. Recently his wife was taken to the State Hospital at Columbus, and their only child was placed in an orphanage.

Renewed Subscription. Mr. J. B. Stewart, prominent former of near Jacksonville, was in the city on Friday and renewed his subscription for the Advocate. Mr. Stewart has been a regular subscriber to the Advocate since 1866 and his father was a subscriber to the paper from 1824 to the time of his death, which occurred in 1877. Both father and son always voted the Democratic tickets.

Certainly a Curiosity. Mr. C. C. Shaw who resides near the State Encampment Grounds, a short distance west of the city, brought to the Advocate office on Friday for the inspection of a reporter, a wonderful curiosity. It was a double duck, preserved in alcohol that was taken from an egg Thursday by Mr. Shaw. It is a veritable Siamese twins, consisting of two bodies, four wings, four legs, two bills, one head and two eyes.

Mr. Mont Miller's Condition. Word has been received here by Senator W. E. Miller of the serious illness of his brother, Mr. M. Miller at Quinton, Indian Territory. Mr. Miller has been suffering with a tropical affection for some time, and recently underwent an operation in the City Hospital at Ft. Smith, Ark. For a time he showed marked improvement, but the trouble has returned and now grave fears are entertained as to the outcome. Mr. Miller has many friends in Newark who sincerely hope that he may soon be restored to health.

Frank Reynolds to Return. The many friends of Mr. Frank Reynolds, son of the late Charles Reynolds, the organist, and who went to Chicago several months ago to study the organ under the tutelage of Harrison Wilde, and the piano under the great Liebling, will be pleased to hear that Mr. Reynolds is progressing rapidly with his study and expects to return to his home in this city for a short vacation about July 1st.

SCOTT CHAIR CO. IS INCORPORATED

WITH A CAPITAL STOCK OF TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS

The New Company Will Take Over the Business of Mr. George Walter Scott.

The Scott Chair company has just been incorporated under the laws of Ohio with a capital of $25,000, being 250 shares at $100 each, by Messrs. George Walter Scott, Harry P. Scott, Charles W. Miller, Eugene J. Koos, William C. Miller.

The articles provide that the company may manufacture, sell, and deal in house, store, and other furniture, and cabinet work of all kinds, but it is the present intention of the company to continue the work of the manufacture of high grade Roman chairs, and rockers, such as has been successfully carried on during the past two years by Mr. Walter Scott, at his factory in East Newark. The company takes over the property of Walter Scott, and will enlarge the plant and install more machinery to keep up with the growth of the business. Mr. Scott has established a splendid reputation throughout this and adjoining states for the splendid work he has turned out, and the reputation of the Scott chairs is no inconsiderable asset of the new company. All of the incorporators are well known and successful business men of this city. The Scott Bros. are intimately acquainted with the furniture business, Mr. C. W. Miller is a well known lawyer, Mr. Koos is the secretary of the Newark Lumber company, and Mr. W. C. Miller is the secretary-treasurer of the Powers-Miller company. The new company will have ample capital for the needs of this growing business, and the best wishes of the many friends of those interested in the enterprise will be extended to the new concern.

Messrs. Robert Hayes and Roy James, members of the Alpha Pi fraternity, have resigned from organization.

The Rev. T. L. Kiernan will deliver a special preparatory sermon in the First Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

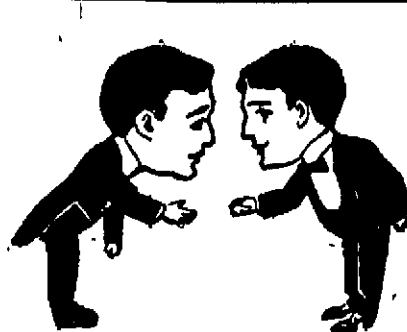

Davitt's Will. Dublin, June 1.—Michael Davitt's body was removed to the Carmelite church, where it will remain until Saturday. His will leaves his property to his wife absolutely, and concludes: "To all my friends I leave kind thoughts; to my enemies the fullest possible forgiveness, and to Ireland my undying prayer for her absolute freedom and independence, which it has been my life's ambition to try to obtain for her."

To Await Supreme Court Decision. Boise, Idaho, June 1.—It was definitely decided by the attorneys for the defense in the Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone cases that, pending the United States supreme court decision, they will take no further steps. This announcement has been made by C. S. Darrow. The cases will not come to trial before the end of the year.

Fast on the Rocks. Lundy Island, June 1.—The British battleship Montagu, ashore of Shuttin Point, remains fast on the rocks in the same critical position. The chances of refloating her are diminishing. Active preparations are being made to remove the big guns and stores so as to lighten the vessel.

Infected Cattle. Racine, Wis., June 1.—Tuberculosis was discovered in many herds of cattle in the town of Caledonia. As a result one herd of 32 cattle was condemned. Several other herds are being examined and many of them have been found to be afflicted with the disease.

RUCKLEN-BEEM. Jersey, June 1.—Mr. Horace Rucklen and Miss Dora Beem were married last night at Pataskala.

THE NURSING MOTHER

She Needs Food Especially Adapted to Herself and Baby—A Pure Food Easily Digested.

The Results of What She Eats Are Show in Her Offspring.

We often meet youngsters whose pimply or blotchy skins tell a story of improper nourishment—of greasy foods, vegetables not properly cooked, and poor bread.

These conditions exist because enough care is not taken in the selection of diet by the nursing mother.

Only those foods that can meet all the requirements of both mother and child should be eaten, and the simpler they are the better.

Hardyfood is the ideal food for both mother and child at all times.

It is a brain, nerve bone and muscle builder, easily digested, and its wastes are rapidly eliminated from the system.

It is the best food for children at any age, especially the growing and school age.

It is pleasing to the taste, and eaten with milk or fruit will sustain the person indefinitely without other nourishment.

It is all ready to eat from the package, but can be cooked again or prepared in many ways.

Hardyfood is an economical food, as a 10-cent package contains enough for 10 to 15 meals, a cost of less than a cent a meal.

If you have never eaten Hardyfood you have a food loss to learn Put it on your table at once.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Of Candidates To Be Voted For at the Coming Democratic Primary Election.

The following gentlemen, whose names appear in this column under this heading, announce themselves as candidates for the offices designated respectively, subject to the decision of the Democracy of Licking county at the coming primary election:

For Congress,
WILLIAM A. ASHBROOK.
J. B. JONES.
For Sheriff,
W. F. HOLTON.
WM. LINKE.
County Clerk
J. W. HURSEY (second term).
County Commissioner.
GEO. T. TAVENER, (of Eden Tp.)
PERRY E. TYGARD (of Union Tp.)
Infirmary Director.
B. D. JACKSON (second term).

Little progress was made by the conference committee on the rate bill because it is gravely explained the Senate cafe was closed on a holiday and cold tea was not procurable. Nothing will more conduce to the designs of the plotters to alter the few Senate tonics administered to the House bill than delay. In the hurry of the closing days, with nerves at high tension, some kind of a measure will be adopted and later its inconsistencies and crudities will have to be found.

The critics of Mr. Longworth's bill to provide suitable embassies in the leading foreign capitals proceed upon the wrong line. The American people do not desire to have diplomatic palaces erected to bear some bifurcated name, like the imitative baronial mansions in this country, but they do not object to residences and offices consistent in style and cost and comfort with the greatness of America. But after these proper homes are erected, then the great change might be effected of sending as their occupants men whose high ability justifies their choice, and not their toadyism, their wealth, or their party services. Brains would thus find it possible to represent this Nation abroad.

Packers and Stockmen.

(New York World.)

Western stockmen have known for years that a certain number of animals unfit for food are used by the packers. They have known it because they have sold the cattle and hogs to the packers. The whole number of those which ought to have been condemned has probably been much smaller than the public in its present excited state believes, although that fact excuses no one.

The cattlemen who shipped a steer with lump-jaw in a carload of beaves knew just what he was doing; so did the farmer who rushed his hogs to market when cholera appeared among them. They intended to get what they could out of the stock. It is not in the least likely that the packers' buying were imposed on. They know their business. That does not make them averse to buying some poor stock at their own price. The only persons imposed on have been the customers.

The best class of beef cattle offered for sale in the stock-rards are corned steers from the Western States. They furnish most of the dressed beef and practically all the cattle for export to Europe. Properly handled and refrigerated this dressed beef should be beyond criticism.

At the other end are what are called "canners"—poor and old cows, rough steers, bulls and stags. They represent the cheapest classes of cattle sold, and go to fill millions of cans. Where prime beef cattle sell at $6 per hundredweight on feet, "canners" bring only $1.50. When the meat has been cut up, cooked or colored by "corning" there is no telling anything about its original state by the ordinary consumer. The same is true of virtually all of the prepared hog products. But it would be absurd to say that all of these food articles are dangerous or made from diseased animals.

The stockmen's protest against the Beveridge amendment is easy to understand. They are not wholly guiltless. More than that, they are dependant upon the big packers for a market.

The greatest menace to public health really lies in unsanitary methods and conditions in the packing-houses. That can never be wholly cured by Federal inspection. Unless State and local authorities join in the work of enforcing reforms wherever needed the spasm of disgust that has seized the country will result in little lasting good.

FURTHER INQUIRY BY COMMISSION

As to the Relation of the B. & O. and Pennsylvania With the Coal Companies.

Washington, June 1.—Further inquiry into the relations of the Pennsylvania and the B. & O. railroads with the bituminous coal industry, was made by the interstate commerce commission today. Commissioners Knapp, Clements and Correll took the testimony.

E. T. Postlethwaite, assistant to President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania said: "None whatever," when asked by Counsel W. A. Glasgow Jr., if he owned any interest in coal companies. He said he sold an interest in the Keystone Coal company, acquired by holding in subsidiary companies, to Robert K. Cassatt, eastern manager of the Keystone, four years ago. Two years ago he sold a small holding in the Altona Coal and Coke company and the Pittsburg Coal company.

WE ARE BUILDING SOMETHING GREAT, BUT WE DON'T KNOW EXACTLY WHAT IT IS.

general solicitor of the Pennsylvania cross examined the witness to show that he was not in a position to in any way favor the companies in which he held stock.

J. E. Muehlfeld, general superintendent of motive power of the B. & O. was asked: "Do you recollect a conference between yourself and officers of the Pennsylvania about the handling of cars for H. C. Frick Coke company of Pittsburgh?"

"No. I remember a conference about the repair of cars generally used in that district. The repair of individual cars was not considered."

DECISION GIVEN IN REBATE CASES

Government Wins in Action Against Six Railroads, and Others at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 1.—The United States circuit court for the eastern district of Wisconsin handed down its decision in the rebate case of the government against the Milwaukee Refrigerator company, six railroads and the Pabst Brewing company on charges of alleged violations of the Elkins act, finding against the defendants with the exception of the Pabst Brewing company. So far as the latter is concerned the suit is dismissed. The complaint was made by the United States that the transit company had received commissions of from 10 to 12½ per cent on all shipments of beer from the Pabst Brewing company routed by the refrigerator company. A copy of the traffic agreement with the Erie Railroad company was made an exhibit of the complaint. The railroad companies admitted having made such concessions, but claimed that these had been paid the same as commissions.

NOT FIT FOR HER

The Cleveland Man Thought, So He Very Complacently Killed Himself.

Detroit, Mich., June 1.—"Dear Wife: I do this because I am not fit for you. I thought I could do better, but I can't and I am wholly unfit for you." Writing these farewell words to his wife, Louis Morris, traveling salesman for the Leonard Manufacturing company, of Cleveland, took poison in his room at the Madison Hotel, Jefferson avenue and Randolph street. He was found lying dead across his bed by the clerk of the hotel at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Morris was about 36, well dressed and prosperous looking. The body was sent to the county morgue by Coroner Parker.

TAR COAT WITH FEATHER TRIMMING

Promised the Texas Evangelist in an Ohio Town—Dancing Women Say They Were Insulted.

Norwalk, June 1.—"The voice of one crying in the wilderness, prepare ye the way for the Lord."—Matt. iii, 3.

"While they are applying the tar and feathers I shall endeavor to keep the flies off their coats."

Thus the cowboy evangelist, M. B. Williams, dismissed the threatened violence at the hands of Norwalk citizens.

Threats against Williams are freely made on the streets of Norwalk. They say that Williams, in his denunciation of dancing, has insulted several women. Already he has been attacked by an anonymous pamphlet which, in impolite terms, called his methods those of a faker. There are those who offer to waylay Williams and give him a beating. Others say the most satisfaction will come from the application of tar and feathers, with a trip out of town on a rail following.

But the evangelist who has been an amateur boxer of no small skill in his time, and who spent his vacations riding bronchos on his Western ranch, is not frightened by the threats.

"Come on as thick as you like. I'll be there," he thunders at his enemies. Three weeks ago Williams announced he would conduct his meetings in a big tabernacle. During the night the building grew up like a mushroom, and in 25 hours the tabernacle, with seats for 2,700 was ready for the first meeting. Williams designated Norwalk as a "hell hole," the wickedest city in Ohio, "the breeding place of crime." He called upon all to repent or be eternally damned.

Norwalk stared with astonishment. Then about the streets came a murmur of indignation. It swelled so did the size of the meetings. Nearly 400 have been converted.

The evangelist holds his meetings under the auspices of five Protestant churches of Norwalk, though he is not a creedman.

VETERAN FIREMAN QUILTS THE SERVICE.

Pittsburg, June 1.—Captain John Wrigley, 79 years old, the oldest fireman both in age and length of service has retired on a pension after fifty years of almost continuous service. For several years he has been custodian of the Eighth street engine house.

Captain Wrigley first became a fireman in 1847, joining the old Vigilant volunteer company, located at Fifth avenue and Miltenberger street. When the civil war broke out he enlisted and served throughout the Rebellion.

After the war he re-entered the fire department and was one of the first men selected when the paid department was organized.

About four years ago he was injured at Second avenue and Tenth street while responding to an alarm and since that time has been custodian of the Eighth street house.

BUSINESS SECTION OF TOWN BURNED.

Jefferson, O., June 1.—The principal business section of the town was destroyed by fire this morning. Eight business places and two dwellings were burned. Loss $100,000. The building of the Jefferson Gazette was totally destroyed. The Crowell building, in which the Irving club has rooms, was burned. The flames extended from the Beckwith house, north, and destroyed the Farmers bank in addition to stores

IN MUSIC'S REALM

Although not a large audience, they were the musicians and musical students of the city who heard the recital program given by C. Hopkins Ould, Arthur L. Judson and Miss Elsie Hirschberg at Taylor Hall Thursday evening.

Each of the artists was fully prepared to render faultlessly, a portion of the best program of the kind ever given in this city by local talent. Mr. Judson with the violin, Mr. Ould at the piano, and Miss Hirschberg with her clear, rich contralto, each deserve a detailed review which lack of space forbids. Following is the program as rendered:

Songs: (a) Temple Bells; (b) 'Till I Wake, Finden.

Piano Solo, Toccata and Fugue in D Minor, Bach-Tausig.

SCHOONER COLLIDES WITH LIGHTSHIP.

Norfolk, Va., June 1.—The schooner George May, from Jacksonville, Fla., to Philadelphia, was towed in here today with her headgear gone, and badly leaking, having been in a collision May 28, forty miles southeast of the Winter Quarters Lightship, with an unknown three-masted schooner, which was completely dismasted by the collision. The collision occurred at three o'clock in the morning, and the unknown vessel disappeared in the darkness. What became of her is unknown. She is believed to have gone down at sea with all hands. She carried at least twelve men.

Sackett Plaster Board

I desire to call the attention of all architects, contractors and builders to the Sackett Plaster Board. It takes the place of wood or metal lath. It is not a new thing, but has been in use for fifteen years in some of the largest cities.

One of the great advantages of the board is that it is a non-conductor of sound, as well as being fire proof. It makes houses warmer in winter and cooler in summer. I have the agency for this board and am prepared to furnish it in small amounts or carload lots. For full particulars call on or address:

INSPECTION OF PACKING PLANTS

Substitute Appears In the House For the Beveridge Amendment.

CRUMPACKER FATHERS IT

Agreement Reached on the Statehood Bill, the Foraker Proposition Pre-empting—Measures Passed by the Senate and House—Railroad Rate Amendment Aired.

Washington, June 1.—In the house Representative Crumpacker of Indiana has introduced a bill as a substitute for the Beveridge meat inspection amendment placed on the agricultural bill in the senate. The bill defines the authority which may be vested in the secretary of agriculture so as not to conflict with the police powers of the state. In accomplishing the adequate inspection with this restriction provision is made whereby the secretary of agriculture may accept the inspection of state inspectors as to the sanitary condition of packing houses. Where opposition is made on the part of packers, which would make the state inspection inadequate, the secretary of agriculture is authorized to stop all meat products at state lines and make a thorough inspection. Where the state inspection is accepted by the secretary this federal inspection in transit will not be made. Certain labels and tags to denote the character of the state inspection are provided for use.

Mr. Crumpacker believes that the Beveridge amendment, in authorizing federal inspection of packing houses is a violation of the police powers of the state, and that all of the rulings sustain this position.

There are but 11 amendments in the railroad rate bill yet to be disposed of by the conferees of the senate and house. Twenty amendments disposed of was the record of the two sessions of the conference committee. Of the amendments considered the senate had receded on but three, while the house conferees have accepted 39. Those on which the senate has receded are all of minor importance and are regarded as not affecting the bill in any way. The amendments still in dispute include the express company amendment, those relating to oil and the ownership of producing properties by common carriers, the anti-pass amendment, the sleeping car provision, "Jim Crow" cars, the bill of lading provision, the retention or rejection of the words "in its judgment" and "fairly remunerative" and the side track amendment.

Statehood Agreement.
Washington, June 1.—The Republican managers in the house stated that the conference report on the statehood bill would be made this week. This report will be an agreement on the basis of the Foraker amendment of a year ago, which provides that the people of Arizona and New Mexico may vote on the question of joint statehood at a regular election held for the purpose of electing a delegate to congress. The amendment is to be reported exactly as it was introduced a year ago by Mr. Foraker in the senate. At the session of the conference committee it was agreed that Guthrie should be made the new capital of Oklahoma until 1915, with certain restrictions as to the amount of money which may be expended prior to that date. At that time a vote is to be taken for the selection of a capital site.

In the Senate.
Washington, June 1.—The senate passed the Knox immunity bill and the omnibus lighthouse bill, with practically no debate passed the military academy bill and was only prevented from passing the employers' liability bill by a motion to go into executive session. Most of the afternoon was devoted to consideration in executive session of the nomination of Judge James Wickham to be judge of the United States circuit court for the District of Alaska, but he was not confirmed. The charges against him, which have prevented confirmation for three years, were urged strongly by Senators McCumber and Hansbrough, Nelson, Teller, Pettus and a number of others.

Mob Assaults Umpire.
Minneapolis, Minn., June 1.—Umpire Steven Kane was chased by baseball enthusiasts as he came from the American association ball park here and knocked unconscious by a missile which struck him on the back of the head. His decisions in the game between Minneapolis and St. Paul did not meet the approval of some of the crowd.

Struck by Lightning.
Boonville, Ind., June 1.—At Newburg, this county, lightning struck a large barn where a number of children who were attending a Sunday school picnic had gathered during a severe storm. Melville Greer, 12, was instantly killed and five other children were injured, but not seriously. A terrific hailstorm followed the lightning.

Capitalist Suicides.
Battle Creek, Mich., June 1.—George E. Howes, ex mayor, capitalist and prominent club man of this city, committed suicide by shooting today.

IRON BARS

Of Curt Jett's Cell Found to Have Been Piled With Wood—His Trial Called for Monday.

Cynthiana, Ky., June 1.—Painters engaged in work on the interior of the county jail, discovered in the cell occupied by Curt Jett, the noted Breathitt county bandit, that the lower part of two iron bars had been pieced out with wood. The wood was painted the color of the bars and made the same shape, so that detection could not be made. When the bars were removed an opening large enough for a man to pass through was left.

This cell was occupied by Curt Jett and Tom White during their exciting trial here two years ago, and Jett was again placed in it when he was brought from Frankfort penitentiary to be tried for the murder of James Cockrell.

Jailer Craig thinks the wooden pieces were placed there by work men when the jail was built. Jett's trial will be called Monday, June 4.

HARVEST

Of Souls Among Young Toledo Girls Increased by Skating Rinks and Beer Gardens.

Toledo, O., June 1.—When asked yesterday morning as to the condition in the juvenile court, Assistant Probation Officer Miss Mary Corrigan said:

"There are more girls on juvenile court records now than ever before. The winter skating rinks have gathered their harvest of souls, and the summer beer gardens are now calling the youth of our city. The girl problem daily becomes more complex, and it seems that even the tender years of childhood are not safe from the snares laid by the evil-minded."

Mrs. Corrigan further said that the worst part of it all was that there seemed to be absolutely no way to showing the wayward girls under surveillance the wrongs they were doing. She cited several cases where girls have been given chances to improve and have been arrested again and again for the same offenses.

Don't think that piles cannot be cured. Thousands of obtrusive cases have been cured by Doan's Ointment. 50 cents at any drug store.

OLYMPIC PARK.
The new Olympic park added a new act last night, which will continue to run with the regular program Friday and Saturday nights. The new team, Sherman and Fuller, does a clever comedy acrobatic turn, which so far made a decided hit.

A complete stage with footlights, dressing rooms, etc., will be built this week, and on Monday night a full vaudeville bill will be presented including six good acts, and new illustrated songs by Miss Sadie Sherman, who, by the way, is no relation to the Sherman of the acrobatic team.

Even in so short a time the new amusement park is attracting large crowds.

SO SUBTLE

Is His Influence Over the Young Women That Many of Them Seek Self Destruction.

St. Louis, Mo., June 1.—Henry Zang, 21 years old, who has so subtle an influence over women that a trail of suicides and attempts to commit self destruction followed in his wake, was locked up in the Four Courts yesterday.

Complaining against him on the charge of disturbing the peace, was Ida Miller, who three days ago had been in efforts to end her life when Zang grew indifferent.

Ida Miller's suicide a few weeks ago was because Zang scorned her love.

Katie Jones, of 646 South Broadway, also sought to die by drinking carbolic acid and was told her he did not care for her.

The girl of 22 was the author of a diamond ring.

Ida Miller, who was covered from her last attempt to end her life, tried to obtain a divorce from Zang, who kept her in a house, and the Four Courts, under a court order.

The following gentlemen, whose names appear in this column under this heading, announce themselves as candidates for the offices designated respectively, subject to the decision of the Democracy of Licking county at the coming primary election:

For Congress,
WILLIAM A. ASHBROOK.
J. B. JONES.

For Sheriff.
W. F. HOLTON.
WM. LINKE.

County Clerk
J. W. HURSEY (second term).

County Commissioner.
GEO. T. TAVENER, (of Eden Tp.)
PERRY E. TYGARD (of Union tp.)

Infirmary Director.
B. D. JACKSON (second term).

Little progress was made by the conference committee on the rate bill because it is gravely explained the Senate cafe was closed on a holiday and cold tea was not procurable. Nothing will more conduce to the designs of the plotters to alter the few Senate tonics administered to the House bill than delay. In the hurry of the closing days, with nerves at high tension, some kind of a measure will be adopted and later its inconsistencies and crudities will have to be found.

The critics of Mr. Longworth's bill to provide suitable embassies in the leading foreign capitals proceed upon the wrong line. The American people do not desire to have diplomatic palaces erected to bear some hifalutin name, like the imitative baronial mansions in this country, but they do not object to residences and offices consistent in style and cost and comfort with the greatness of America. But after these proper homes are erected, then the great change might be effected of sending as their occupants men whose high ability justifies their choice, and not their toadyism, their wealth, or their party services. Brains would thus find it possible to represent this Nation abroad.

Packers and Stockmen.

(New York World.)
Western stockmen have known for years that a certain number of animals unfit for food are used by the packers. They have known it because they have sold the cattle and hogs to the packers. The whole number of those which ought to have been condemned has probably been much smaller than the public in its present excited state believes, although that fact excuses no one.

The cattlemen who shipped a steer with lump-jaw in a carload of beavers knew just what he was doing; so did the farmer who rushed his hogs to market when cholera appeared among them. They intended to get what they could out of the stock. It is not in the least likely that the packers' buying were imposed on. They know their business. That does not make them averse to buying some poor stock at their own price. The only persons imposed on have been the customers.

The best class of beef cattle offered for sale in the stock-yards are corn-fed steers from the Western States. They furnish most of the dressed beef and practically all the cattle for export to Europe. Properly handled and refrigerated this dressed beef should be beyond criticism.

At the other end are what are called "canners"—poor and old cows, rough steers, bulls and stags. They represent the cheapest classes of cattle sold, and go to all millions of cans. Where prime beef cattle sell at $6 per hundredweight on feet, "canners" bring only $1.50. When the meat has been cut up, cooked or colored by "coloring" there is no telling anything about its original state by the ordinary consumer. The same is true of virtually all of the prepared hog products. But it would be absurd to say that all of these food articles are dangerous or made from diseased animals.

The stockmen's protest against the Beveridge amendment is easy to understand. They are not wholly guiltless. More than that, they are dependent upon the big packers for a market.

The greatest menace to public health really lies in unsanitary methods and conditions in the packing-houses. That can never be wholly cured by Federal inspection. Unless State and local authorities join in the work of enforcing reforms wherever needed the spasm of disgust that has seized the country will result in little lasting good.

FURTHER INQUIRY BY COMMISSION

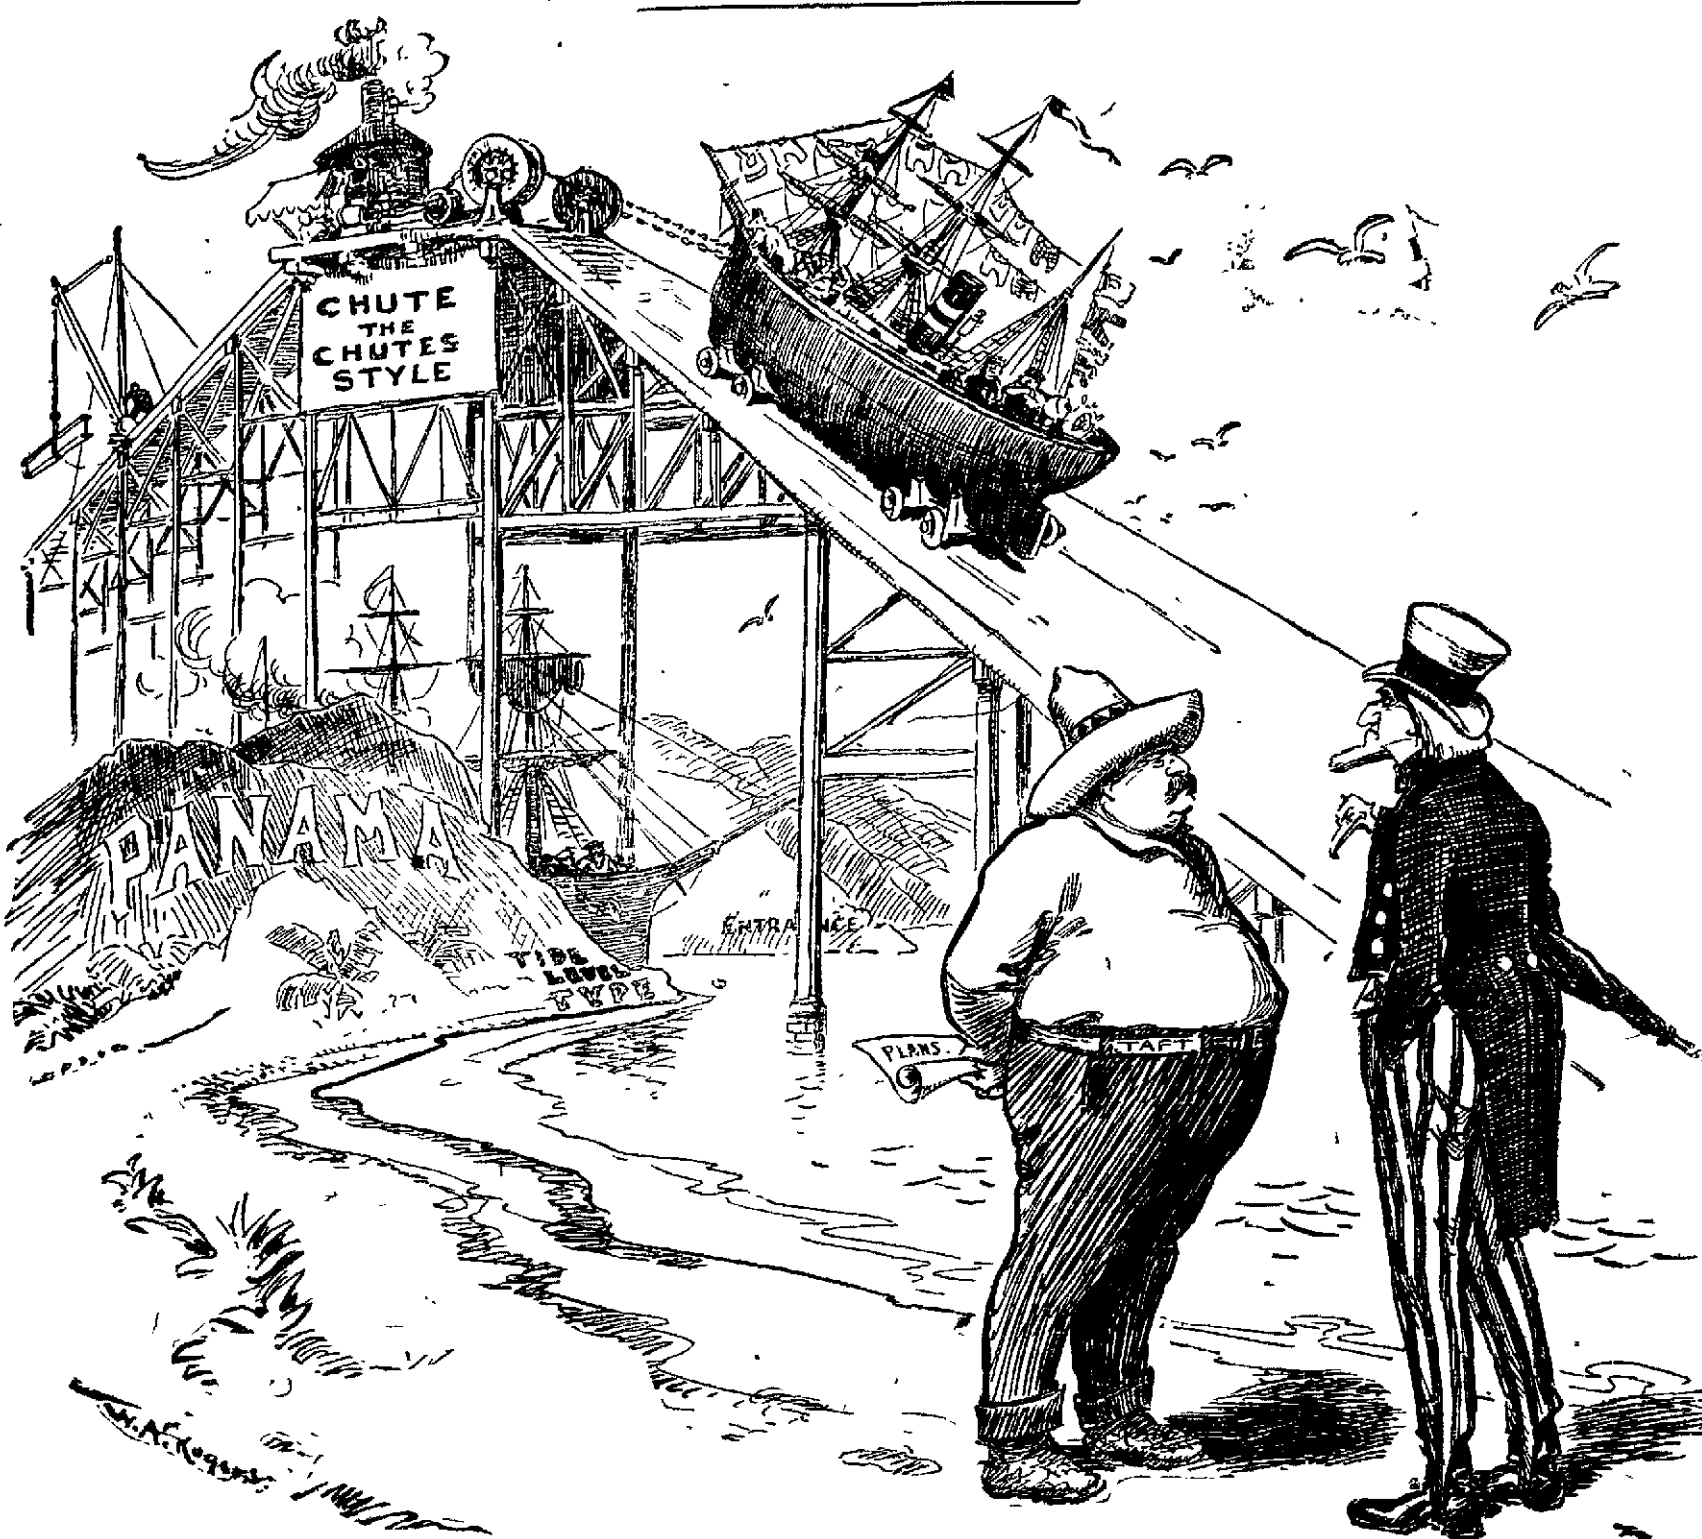

As to the Relation of the B. & O. and Pennsylvania With the Coal Companies.

Washington, June 1.—Further inquiry into the relations of the Pennsylvania and the B. & O. railroads with the bituminous coal industry, was made by the interstate commerce commission today. Commissioners Knapp, Clements and Cockrell took the testimony.

E. T. Postlethwaite, assistant to President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania said: "None whatever," when asked by Counsel W. A. Glasgow Jr., if he owned any interest in coal companies. He said he sold an interest in the Keystone Coal company, acquired by holding in subsidiary companies, to Robert K. Cassatt, eastern manager of the Keystone, four years ago. Two years ago he sold a small holding in the Altoona Coal and Coke company and the Pittsburg Coal Company.

Thomas M. Paterson, assistant

general solicitor of the Pennsylvania cross examined the witness to show that he was not in a position to in any way favor the companies in which he held stock.

J. E. Muehlfield, general superintendent of motive power of the B. & O. was asked: "Do you recollect a conference between yourself and officers of the Pennsylvania about the handling of cars for H. C. Frick Coke company of Pittsburgh?"

"No, I remember a conference about the repair of cars generally used in that district. The repair of individual cars was not considered."

DECISION GIVEN IN REBATE CASES

Government Wins in Action Against Six Railroads, and Others at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 1.—The United States circuit court for the eastern district of Wisconsin handed down its decision in the rebate case of the government against the Milwaukee Refrigerator company, six railroads and the Pabst Brewing company on charges of J-ced violations of the Elkins act, finding against the defendants with the exception of the Pabst Brewing company. So far as the latter is concerned the suit is dismissed.

The complaint was made by the United States that the transit company had received commissions of from 10 to 12½ per cent on all shipments of beer from the Pabst Brewing company routed by the refrigerator company. A copy of the traffic agreement with the Erie Railroad company was made an exhibit of the complaint. The railroad companies admitted having made such concessions, but claimed that these had been paid the same as commissions.

NOT FIT FOR HER

The Cleveland Man Thought, So He Very Complacently Killed Himself.

Detroit, Mich., June 1.—"Dear Wife: I do this because I am not fit for you. I thought I could do better, but I can't and I am wholly unfit for you." Writing these farewell words to his wife, Louis Morris, traveling salesman for the Leonard Manufacturing company, of Cleveland, took poison in his room at the Madison Hotel, Jefferson avenue and Randolph street. He was found lying dead across his bed by the clerk of the hotel at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Morris was about 36, well dressed and prosperous looking. The body was sent to the county morgue by Coroner Parker.

TAR COAT WITH FEATHER TRIMMING

Promised the Texas Evangelist in an Ohio Town—Dancing Women Say They Were Insulted.

Norwalk, June 1.—"The voice of one crying in the wilderness, prepare ye the way for the Lord"—Matt. III, 3. "While they are applying the tar and feathers I shall endeavor to keep the flies off their coats."

Thus the cowboy evangelist, M. B. Williams, dismissed the threatened violence at the hands of Norwalk citizens.

Threats against Williams are freely made on the streets of Norwalk. They say that Williams, in his denunciation of dancing, has insulted several women. Already he has been attacked by an anonymous pamphlet which, in impolite terms, called his methods those of a faker. There are those who offer to wail Williams and give him a beating. Others say the most satisfaction will come from the application of tar and feathers, with a trip out of town on a rail following.

But the evangelist who has been an amateur boxer of no small skill in his time, and who spent his vacations riding bronchos on his Western ranch, is not frightened by the threats. "Come on as thick as you like. I'll be there," he thunders at his enemies. "Three weeks ago Williams announced he would conduct his meetings in a big tabernacle. During the night the building grew up like a mushroom, and in 22 hours the tabernacle, with seats for 2,700 was ready for the first meeting. Williams designated Norwalk as a 'hell hole,' the wickedest city in Ohio, 'the breeding place of crime.' He called upon all to repent or be eternally damned.

Norwalk stared with astonishment. Then about the streets came a murmur of indignation. It swelled, so did the size of the meetings. Nearly 400 have been converted.

The evangelist holds his meetings under the auspices of five Protestant churches of Norwalk, though he is not a creedman.

VETERAN FIREMAN

QUITS THE SERVICE.
Pittsburg, June 1.—Captain John Wrigley, 79 years old, the oldest fireman both in age and length of service has retired on a pension after fifty years of almost continuous service. For several years he has been custodian of the Eighth street engine house.

Captain Wrigley first became a fireman in 1847, joining the old Vigilant volunteer company, located at Fifth avenue and Miltenberger street. When the civil war broke out he enlisted and served throughout the Rebellion.

After the war he re-entered the fire department and was one of the first men selected when the paid department was organized.

About four years ago he was injured at Second avenue and Tiv street while responding to an alarm and since that time has been custodian of the Eighth street house.

BUSINESS SECTION OF TOWN BURNED.

Jefferson, O., June 1.—The principal business section of the town was destroyed by fire this morning. Eight business places and two dwellings were burned. Loss $100,000. The building of the Jefferson Gazette was totally destroyed. The Crowell building, in which the Irving club has rooms, was burned. The flames extended from the Beckwith house, north, and destroyed the Farmers bank in addition to stores.

IN MUSIC'S REALM

Although not a large audience, they were the musicians and music students of the city who heard the recital program given by C. Hopkins Ould, Arthur L. Judson and Miss Elsie Hirschberg at Taylor Hall Thursday evening.

Each of the artists was fully prepared to render faultlessly, a portion of the best program of the kind ever given in this city by local talent. Mr. Judson with the violin, Mr. Ould at the pianoforte, and Miss Hirschberg with her clear, rich contralto, each deserve a detailed review which lack of space forbids. Following is the program as rendered:

Sonata in C Minor (Piano and Violin) Beethoven. (Allegro, Andante, Allegro assai).

Songs (a) Temple Bells; (b) "Till I Wake, Finden.
Piano Solo, Toccata and Fugue in D, Minor, Bach-Tausig.

SCHOONER COLLIDES WITH LIGHTSHIP.

Norfolk, Va., June 1.—The schooner George May, from Jacksonville, Fla., to Philadelphia, was towed in here today with her headgear gone, and badly leaking, having been in a collision May 28, forty miles southeast of the Winter Quarters Lightship, with an unknown three-masted schooner, which was completely dismantled by the collision. The collision occurred at three o'clock in the morning, and the unknown vessel disappeared in the darkness. What became of her is unknown. She is believed to have gone down at sea with all hands. She carried at least twelve men.

Sackett Plaster Board

I desire to call the attention of all architects, contractors and builders to the Sackett Plaster Board. It takes the place of wood or metal lath. It is not a new thing, but has been in use for fifteen years in some of the largest cities.

One of the great advantages of the board is that it is a non-conductor of sound, as well as being fire proof. It makes houses warmer in winter and cooler in summer. I have the agency for this board and am prepared to furnish it in small amounts or carload lots. For full particulars call on or address,

INSPECTION OF PACKING PLANTS

Substitute Appears in the House For the Beveridge Amendment.

CRUMPACKER FATHERS IT

Agreement Reached on the Statehood Bill, the Foraker Proposition Pre-empting—Measures Passed by the Senate and House—Railroad Rate Amendment Aired.

Washington, June 1.—In the house Representative Crumpacker of Indiana has introduced a bill as a substitute for the Beveridge meat inspection amendment placed on the agricultural bill in the senate. The bill defines the authority which may be vested in the secretary of agriculture so as not to conflict with the police powers of the state. In accomplishing the adequate inspection with this restriction provision is made whereby the secretary of agriculture may accept the inspection of state inspectors as to the sanitary condition of packing houses. Where opposition is made on the part of packers, which would make the state inspection inadequate, the secretary of agriculture is authorized to stop all meat products at state lines and make a thorough inspection. Where the state inspection is accepted by the secretary this federal inspection in transit will not be made. Certain labels and tags to denote the character of the state inspection are provided for use.

Mr. Crumpacker believes that the Beveridge amendment, in authorizing federal inspection of packing houses is a violation of the police powers of the state, and that all of the rulings sustain this position.

There are but 11 amendments in the railroad rate bill yet to be disposed of by the conferees of the senate and house. Twenty amendments disposed of was the record of the two sessions of the conference committee. Of the amendments considered the senate had receded on but three, while the house conferees have accepted 29. Those on which the senate has receded are all of minor importance and are regarded as not affecting the bill in any way. The amendments still in dispute include the express company amendment, those relating to oil and the ownership of producing properties by common carriers, the anti-pass amendment, the sleeping car provision, "Jim Crow" cars, the bill of lading provision, the retention or rejection of the words "in its judgment" and "fairly remunerative" and the side track amendment.

Statehood Agreement.

Washington, June 1.—The Republican managers in the house stated that the conference report on the statehood bill would be made this week. This report will be an agreement on the basis of the Foraker amendment of a year ago, which provides that the people of Arizona and New Mexico may vote on the question of joint statehood at a regular election held for the purpose of electing a delegate to congress. The amendment is to be reported exactly as it was introduced a year ago by Mr. Foraker in the senate. At the session of the conference committee it was agreed that Guthrie should be made the new capital of Oklahoma until 1915, with certain restrictions as to the amount of money which may be expended prior to that date. At that time a vote is to be taken for the selection of a capital site.

In the Senate.

Washington, June 1.—The senate passed the Knox immunity bill and the omnibus lighthouse bill, with practically no debate passed the military academy bill and was only prevented from passing the employers' liability bill by a motion to go into executive session. Most of the afternoon was devoted to consideration in executive session of the nomination of Judge James Wickham to be judge of the United States circuit court for the District of Alaska, but he was not confirmed. The charges against him, which have prevented confirmation for three years, were urged strongly by Senators McCumber and Hansbrough, Nelson, Teller, Pettus and a number of others.

Mob Assaults Umpire.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 1.—Umpire Steven Kane was chased by baseball enthusiasts as he came from the American association ball park here and knocked unconscious by a missile which struck him on the back of the head. His decisions in the game between Minneapolis and St. Paul did not meet the approval of some of the crowd.

Struck by Lightning.

Booneville, Ind., June 1.—At Newburg, this county, lightning struck a large barn where a number of children who were attending a Sunday school picnic had gathered during a severe storm. Melville Greer, 12, was instantly killed and five other children were injured, but not seriously. A terrific hailstorm followed the lightning.

Capitalist Suicides.

Battle Creek, Mich., June 1.—George E. Howes, ex-mayor, capitalist and prominent club man of this city, committed suicide by shooting today.

IRON BARS

Of Curt Jett's Cell Found to Have Been Picked With Wood—His Trial Called for Monday.

Cynthiana, Ky., June 1.—Painters engaged in work on the interior of the county jail, discovered in the cell occupied by Curt Jett, the noted Breathitt county bandit, that the lower part of two iron bars had been picked out with wood. The wood was painted the color of the bars and made the same shape, so that detection could not be made. When the bars were removed an opening large enough for a man to pass through was left.

This cell was occupied by Curt Jett and Tom White during their exciting trial here two years ago, and Jett was again placed in it when he was brought from Frankfort penitentiary to be tried for the murder of James Cockrell.

Jailer Craigmyle thinks the wooden pieces were placed there by workmen when the jail was built. Jett's trial will be called Monday, June 4.

HARVEST

Of Souls Among Young Toledo Girls Increased by Skating Rinks and Beer Gardens.

Toledo, O., June 1.—When asked yesterday morning as to the condition in the juvenile court, Assistant Probation Officer Mrs. Mary Corrigan said:

"There are more girls on juvenile court records now than ever before. The winter skating rinks have gathered their harvest of souls, and the summer beer gardens are now calling the youth of our city. The girl problem daily becomes more complex, and it seems that even the tender years of childhood are not safe from the snares laid by the evil-minded."

Mrs. Corrigan further said that the worst part of it all was that there seemed to be absolutely no way to showing the wayward girls under surveillance the wrongs they were doing. She cited several cases where girls have been given chances to improve and have been arrested again and again for the same offenses.

Don't think that pines cannot be cured. Thousands of obstinate cases have been cured by Doan's Ointment. 50 cents at any drug store.

OLYMPIC PARK.

The new Olympic park added a new act last night which will continue to run with the regular program Friday and Saturday nights. The new team, Sherman and Fuller, does a clever comedy acrobatic turn, which so far made a decided hit.

A complete stage with footlights, dressing rooms, etc., will be built this week, and on Monday night a full vaudeville bill will be presented including six good acts, and new illustrated songs by Miss Sadie Sherman, who, by the way, is no relation to the Sherman of the acrobatic team.

Even in so short a time the new amusement park is attracting large crowds.

(Special to Advocate.)
Lancaster June 1—Lancaster in the first inning yesterday afternoon jumped on Cassell and kept right at him until they all but sent him to the bench. No scoring was done until the second when an error of Boyd, giving Ruffis a life at first, a sacrifice by Kunkle and Geyer's double and a single by Heller scored two runs.

The third and fourth were productive of hits, but no runs.

In the fourth Locke beat one out he poked down along first line, Elston flew out to right and Locke went to second stole third and second on Humphrey's cracking single to center. Four more were added in the sixth. After Kunkle was disposed of Geyer got his second double, Abbott singled and Geyer scored, Heller hit to Davis, who retired Abbott at second; Locke put one out between right and center for two bases, Elston hit a long one in left field for two sacks; also, and Gygil hit safely. When the smoke cleared four runs had crossed the plate. On hits by Elston and Gygil, and errors of Wratten and Boyd allowed two more Lanks to score.

The only scoring done by Newark was in the sixth when they lit on "Split-Ball" Geyer for keeps and sent four men over the plate. Davis hit the air three times. Snyder had one strike called and disputed the decision. His numps called him whereupon he motioned to hit him with his bat and he was put out of the game and fined $5. Linke took his place. He was walked. Botenus singled, Bradley hit to Gygil who fielded the ball to Humphreys and he fumbled it. A single by Drake and Snodgrass' double and four runs scored. Only one more hit being Drake's fourth one was made off Geyer after this.

Wooster-Denison Game.
Wooster and Denison will clash at Granville Saturday afternoon and the game promises to furnish plenty of fire and smoke for those who are fortunate enough to see it. The teams played a close game at Wooster several weeks ago and the Presbyterian lads were victorious. Denison will make every effort to capture Saturday's game.

MERRICK WRITES OF SOMERS SIGNING

Zanesville Man Writing From Mansfield Says New Manager May Replace Bradley.

Larry Merrick, in the Times-Recorder this morning says: "According to some pretty good information which got abroad in Mansfield, Newark is to have a new manager, and he is to come from Mansfield. Pete Somers is the name of the candidate for the Bates toga. Pete is an old ball player and saw service in the old Tri-State of long ago. He gained a reputation there for slugging. Rumor even goes so far as to say that Pete will don the war togs and get back into the game once more. If Somers goes to Newark in the role of manager it is likely that he will displace Bradley in right, for that's Pete's regular position.

Right here it might be well to note that it was Mr. Pete Somers who sought the simple life during the morning Memorial day affair at Newark. It was Pete's wavering decision on Cooper's drive inside of third base that set up the vamps from the Morgans, and Pete straightway skidded. It is said that Pete was in conference with the Newark directors yesterday, hence his presence in the Licking town.

FLAG OF CUBA AT THE MAST

Or American Coastwise Ships Cannot Engage in Trade—Fleet Cooped Up.

Mobile, Ala., June 1—Word yesterday from Nueva Gerona, Isle of Pines, is to the effect that the Cuban authorities have got the little fleet of American coastwise vessels operating between Cuba and Isle of Pines tied up in a knot that can only be loosened by the flying of the Cuban flag. Some months ago the Republic of Cuba announced that vessels flying the American flag engaged in coast trade must change their register and become Cuban bottoms.

There was a howl from the American owners, but it was only faint and was subdued almost immediately. Somewhere in the treaty of Paris (whether it was inserted in that treaty as part of the Platt amendment or in the original is not known) is a clause where America retained the right to engage in coastwise traffic for a period of ten years. According to the actions of Cuba the right is repudiated and now American vessels are being forced to fly the Cuban flag, employ a Cuban master or withdraw. Persons returning from Nueva Gerona say that the small fleet of American vessels is tied up, but one by one the owners are giving in to the inevitable. Recently the twin screw steamer Cristobal Colon, flying the American flag, was intended to be operated in the Cuban coast trade and the Isle of Pines.

She was built by a wealthy concern and the company intended putting up a fight, but the Cuban government gave her owners 30 days to change their minds and register the vessel and fly the Cuban flag. Word from Cuba is that she is now flying the Cuban flag.

WIND AND WATER.

Destruction Wrought at Louisville and Vicinity.

Louisville, Ky., June 1—A terrific rain and wind storm which passed over Louisville did damage approximating $50,000 in the downtown district by blowing in of plate glass windows, damage to roofs, the wetting of costly fabrics and the flooding of basements. The wind reached a velocity of 52 miles an hour, and half an inch of rain fell in the first seven minutes of the storm. Fire Chief Tison issued an order for half the fire engines in the city to go immediately to the central portion of the city and a list in the pumping out of water from the basements of stores. The wind came from the west and its full fury was felt on the river. Almost every boat was blown loose and some had narrow escapes. Serious damage was done to the Roubin dam. This dam is used to keep the water in the canal at a stage sufficient for navigation. The wickets were blown to pieces.

The old Bowling Green Co. destroyed the Roubin dam was blown to pieces.

At Dayton, O., burglars blew the safe of the Roubin Oil company and secured $15.

AL SCHWEITZER WILL COME BACK

CRACK OUTFIELDER DRAFTED BY ROCHESTER MAY RETURN THIS WEEK.

Club Thinks Fails to Live up to Draft Agreement—Rumored a New Pitcher is Signed.

The announcement was made Thursday night that Al Schweitzer, the crack middle fielder, who played with Newark during the latter part of last season, would return to Newark within a few days and would again be seen in a Newark uniform. There seems to be several different things working in this direction. The biggest is that the Rochester club who drafted Schweitzer from Newark last fall, has failed to come forward with the second payment on the draft price. The club has asked for an extension to the fifteenth of the month but the Newark club's business manager couldn't see it that way and in all probability Schweitzer will be back in Newark before next week is gone.

Another thing working to this end is the fact that Schweitzer would rather play ball in Ohio. He would much rather be in Central Ohio for reasons best known to himself. Then too, his ankle is still giving him some trouble, and he is also bothered to a certain extent with a slight paralysis which he suffered at St. Vernon last winter. It affected the nerves in the right end of his face. All these helped to make the little outfielder homesick and it is a safe bet he will be glad to get back to Newark.

Lefty Snyder.

Left Fielder "Lefty" Snyder was ejected from the game at Lancaster and tagged by McNamara for a five spot. McNamara is a new umpire. Snyder is an old ball player and in Newark alone he has played for five years. No fan in Newark ever saw Snyder do anything or heard him say anything that would merit any such action by an umpire. Perhaps the ump was right in his decision as to the ball, but it is hard for any one knowing Snyder to believe that he would do such a foolish thing as to threaten an assault on an umpire or make a pass at him with a bat. Umpire McNamara carries out this policy in every game, we predict a short life in the Q. J. league.

Joe Locke is Signed.

It seems that the Newark team is bound to have a man named Locke to play on the team. The management is now in communication with Joe Locke a pitcher who was turned loose by Lancaster early in May. Locke will step in and help the Newark pitchers out of a very bad hole. Of course it is hard to tell by one or two games just what Pitcher Locke can deliver. It is hardly probable that every game he pitches will result as disastrously as did that Lancaster affair. Just why there is a desire to sign Locke for a pitching position when he was evidently not good enough for Lancaster where he would have a stronger pull, does not seem clear to some Newark fans.

In Auto to Lancaster.

Plans were being made Thursday night and Friday morning by a number of enthusiastic fans to take an automobile trip to Lancaster this afternoon. Four or five machines made the trip and everything possible will be done to win the game this afternoon from Lancaster. The machines containing the fans left at 1 o'clock P. M. and expect to reach Lancaster in time to see the finish of the practice, which precedes the game.

A New Pitcher.

It is rumored on the street that the baseball company has gone to Columbus after a player to help pull the Newark team out of the depths of the league standing. The man is said to be Pitcher Pickett who worked in the Saturday afternoon leagues with Pitcher Laddie Linke of the local team. Linke recommended the man, and said that Pickett won more games than he (Linke) last year. "In fact," said Linke, "Pickett is a much better pitcher than I am." If Newark had about three pitchers who were better than Linke, the pitching staff would draw no criticisms from the local fans. As it is, however, there seems to be great dissatisfaction about the pitchers. The fans were disappointed in the work of Cassell Thursday. It was hoped he would at least sustain his record made in the Mansfield game.

Jeems Discouraged.

Jeems Lucas is beginning to feel a bit blue. He even went so far as to say today that if things didn't soon begin to break differently for him he would be tempted to throw up and quit. Jim's whip has rounded to after several weeks' soreness and the fact that he lost his game Wednesday morning at Newark weighs on James Henry's mind a bit. Of course Jimmy has no room to feel at all discouraged, and with the arrival of some real good warm weather his old whip—which has flung many a great victory—will be there once more. Times Recorder.

THE BEST COUGH CURE

THE VALIDITY OF THE LAWS ENACTED BY GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Will be Tested in the Courts, a Suit Having Been Started
In Cincinnati—Election May be Contested—Airship
With Wings—Ohio News Briefs.

Cincinnati, O., June 1.—Acting for the Wine Growers' association of Ohio, Frederick Dunker and Martin Doering have addressed communications to Mayor Dempsey, attacking the validity of an act of the legislature on the ground that it was never presented to the governor, as required by the constitution of the state. Mr. Doering petitions Mayor Dempsey not to proceed under the Brannock law, as the law is unconstitutional and any expenditure under it would be a misapplication of funds. The mayor submitted the matter to the city solicitor for a legal opinion, but answered the petitioners with a written statement that he had decided to advertise a public hearing. This action will bring to a judicial test the question of the validity of the Jones substitute law and also serve to determine the question of whether Governor Patterson has given the required consideration to the acts of the last legislature.

May Contest Election.
Washington, C. H., June 1.—A suit involving interesting questions of law will probably grow out of the recent local option election at New Holland, which is on the line between Pickaway and Fayette counties. The "drys" carried the election by a majority of 26 and the "wets" threaten to contest upon the ground that the residents of New Holland, whose homes were over the line in Fayette county, had no right to vote in Pickaway county. All votes cast at the election were polled at the town hall in New Holland, which is in Pickaway county.

Split in Convention.
Portsmouth, O., June 1.—Tumultuous scenes marked the Republican judicial convention, which nominated Judges A. Z. Blair of West Union and John C. Milner of this city, to succeed themselves. A rum convention presided over by ex-Senate Senator Patterson nominated E. E. Corn of Iron ton as a candidate for the term to which Milner was nominated. The fight as to whether Corn or Milner gets on the ticket will go up to state central committee, and the Iron ton man's following threatens to contest it clear through to the supreme court if necessary.

Airship With Wings.
Columbus, O., June 1.—The Fisher Airship company, with $10,000 capital, has been incorporated by local men. Jacob Fisher is the inventor of the ship. The gas bag, which supports a car for passengers, is cigar-shaped and when inflated will carry three persons. The carriage is 40 feet in length and is canoe-shaped. An innovation from which much is expected is a method of steering by means of small wings attached to the gas bag, any of which, when allowed to fly from the side of the bag, will change the airship's course.

Strike Settled.
Wellston, O., June 1.—The strike, which has been in progress at the Alma cement plant for four weeks, has been settled and resulted in an almost complete victory for the union men, who struck because the management refused to recognize the union. All but four of the non-union men were induced to join the union.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers. They filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or uneasy heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble. If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Send of five cents free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Rural Carriers Met.
Cambridge, June 1.—The crusade for good roads in Guernsey county was given additional impetus at the annual convention of the Guernsey county Rural Carriers in Odd Fellows Temple Thursday afternoon and evening. So earnest were the carriers and so much time given this subject that some business of importance was necessarily held over to a future meeting. Owing to the fact that many carriers were obliged to leave early in order to take out the morning mail, the election of officers for the ensuing year was postponed until the president shall call another meeting. At that time the delegates will also be elected to the state convention which will meet at Cedar Point August 27-28. In the evening an elaborate banquet was served at the Berwick hotel. The carriers honored Postmaster James R. Barry by choosing him toastmaster, an honor well deserved, for no man has done more for the Guernsey county carriers.

ELDER SISTER OF MRS. HOWARD GOULD

Subsists on the Government's Bounty
While Magnate's Wife and Mother
Live in Luxury.

Oakland, Cal., June 1.—While Mrs. Howard Gould, wife of the New York millionaire, is luxuriously and leisurely traveling abroad, and her mother, Mrs. J. W. Dayan, is enjoying the summer at Palo Alto, Miss Ella M. Clemmens, the elder sister of Mrs. Gould and daughter of Mrs. Dayan, occupying a little tent among the refugees at the Presidio, subsisting on the bounty of the government.

Before the fire Miss Clemmens had a room in a basement on Clay street, within the bounds of Chinatown, where she chose to cast her lot that she might give to the little Chinese boys and girls the love that filled her heart and found no outlet among her own people. To earn her living Miss Clemmens was forced to sell papers. When the news of the San Francisco earthquake and fire reached Mrs. Gould in Paris she sent several cablegrams to get word from her mother at Palo Alto, and as no reply was received Mr. Gould's secretary was sent from New York to learn of her condition and supply her wants.

"The secretary called if any assistance was to be extended to me, and in a letter I received from my mother I learned that the answer was received. 'No help for my sister.' That is my sister's picture above the crucifix," continued Miss Clemmens. "I have always kept it there, and when I took the crucifix with me in my flight before the flames I took the picture with it."

Don't Grouch in June!

Are you moping today over troubles or ills.
Have you lain all your courage down?
Go out! Cross a bridge! Get into the hills.
Where there's nothing of sere, or brown
Get under the green of the growing trees.
Gaze up where the skies are blue.
For it's June, you great grouch!
Just quit crying "Ouch!"
And Joy will come back to you.

ADDRESS BY COL. CURRY

comrades who are here today fought and some of you comrades fell!

What mighty changes since that memorable time from 1861 to 1865. The grass is green above the ruined forts, where grim guns thundered and the flags waved defiantly in the face of the foe. The cotton grows along the historic valleys where greater and braver armies than were marshaled by Caesar or Napoleon met in their great struggle. The corn waves over the fields where thousands died; the flowers bloom beside the grim entrenchments where death flamed from every trench and angle. The children play beside ruined mounds that were once heroic monuments of human valor.

The plowman turns the sod that once ran red with human blood. Silence broods above the dark and gloomy cedars of Stone's River and the soft Tennessee sky lovingly hangs over it a tender banner of azure as if to embrace the spot where thousands of heroes lie down in their last sleep.

Peace and beauty hangs like a benediction over the mountains of the Cumberland and the bloody fields of Shiloh, Vicksburg, Nashville and Atlanta. No cannon thunders and no flags sweep through the storm of war over giant Lookout, where Hooker planted himself above the clouds. Unswept by shot and unscarred by shell, Mission Ridge lies sleeping above the homes and peaceful fields around its base, where our armies with prodigies of valor stormed misty rocks above its crest. The iron furnaces of Chattanooga almost lights up the dark recesses of the woods, where old Pap Thomas and his men stood like a rock at bloody Chickamauga, while along the fiery pathway that led from Chattanooga to the sea, there is a new dream of free and ennobled labor.

Fruitful fields, gleaming wheels and humming factories fills the chasm of war and the scars of the shot-ridden and bullet-torn Atlanta, the gate of the South, can be seen no longer through the mighty marts of trade and lofty spires that crown her hills. The long roll beats no more, the bugle call "to horse" is hushed, the forts bristle no longer in our front; their ruined embrasures are unmanned, the grim guns are silent; the muskets are stacked and the swords are sheathed; the shot-torn and battered flags are folded with the benediction; the sentinels steady tramp is heard no longer, the watchful picket is withdrawn; the old army blue and gray is doffed forever; the heroic dead, sleep in peace on the fields they won; the last tattoo is beaten; the mighty war is done.

In this hour of eulogy of our own dead, no brave soldier who wore the blue and met upon the battle-field the brave boys of the rank and file, who wore the gray, will deny a slight chaplet, to those who fell on the other side.

Every brave soldier is generous to a defeated foe, for never braver men battled in a losing cause, and it is all the more credit to us that we did defeat such foemen that if they had not, been the best blood of our race. Their ruined homes, their lost fortunes and standing as they did in the last trenches of defeat, attest their sincerity and devotion to a lost cause. In our vision of a glorious future and let us salute the flag that carries all a Union which is now cemented more strongly by a foreign war in which our sons of the North and South fought side by side for the same flag which we upheld during the rebellion, we hope the day may come when the clamor and strife between the sections shall be hushed forever. We have but one flag, we are one people, we have but one destiny; then let us teach only the gospel of "peace and good will to men" from North to South, and from East to West, an enlarged patriotism and enlightened statesmanship should soon hasten the day and we all hope its dawn is almost here.

The blue and the gray sleep side by side in every valley and on every hill-top of the battlefields of the republic; over them blends the same heaven, over them sweeps the same flag free and immortal, fallen comrades of the blue! fallen comrades of the gray! Their tents pitched together in the Eternal Bivouac beyond the stars where they shall sleep forever in that silence that shall be broken only by the reveille of life immortal.

No chivalrous soldier would forgive me did I not speak a word for those whom the soldier never forgot and were ever in his memory when at the front. Need I say that I refer to the mothers, wives and sweethearts of the Union soldiers. It was not given to you, silent martyrs of the war, to fall in battle, but yours was a harder lot. Those whom you loved better than life were exposed to danger, but you could only hope and pray. You trembled at every battle, yet hoped your soldier was at the front. You hardly dared hope he would escape such imminent danger and yet you would have scorned the temptation to him to have tried to avoid it. You wished him to be the bravest of the brave or he would not have been worthy of your love. And while your heart trembled constantly at his danger, yet you constantly rejoiced at his valor. He was brave because you willed it, he was tender, generous and chivalrous because he was born of woman. It was for you that valor became a virtue and it was for your sake he dared not do otherwise than be brave. It was your prayers, and messages to him that made him steadfast, and your love that made him invincible. And so it was always, that as much as you loved us, you were through all the long and bloody years of the war, fearless and unconquered for us. With your prayers we went into the field, mourned by your tears, our comrades fell and we returned victorious to receive your blessing. You suffered for every shot that struck a loved one, but could not lose your pain in the excitement of the charge or a heroic death. You wrote letters of cheer and comfort, scraped lint, nursed the sick and wounded, prayed with and consoled the dying and buried the friendless dead, did all you could and then folded your hands and trusted in God to bring your darling home, or to have him die with honor on the field.

And now that the war is over you guide and rule us as gently as in the old days of the war. But your sway is gentle and true, always, your reign over us is the reign of love and your empire is lasting peace. Comrades, I give you today as the holiest sentiment, after our heroic dead, the mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts of the Great War.

My comrades and fellow-citizens in the spirit of this day which brings so vividly the memories of the days of '61 let us salute the flag that carries all the glory of the present and all the hope and promise of the future; the flag of our country; the flag of our fathers and our flag forever.

As we behold it streaming here, we are veterans and sons of veterans, we who are American citizens too, with one blood pulsing in our veins, unclouded by a single bitter memory, can take it to our hearts and lift it high above our heads and thank God it waves at last above a reunited country.

With its white stripes breathing peace, its red stripes pulsing kindred and the azure radiant with stars which speaks the Providence that makes us now and forever—one people in this greatest republic of the world.

It is the flag of the heroes of all our wars from the Revolution of 1776 to the Spanish-American War of '98, each successive line worthy of their sires. And opening our hearts and souls to all our heroic history, we see the trooping victors of all our glorious wars in thronging procession pass before us, we hear the thunder of the guns of Bunker Hill and Gettysburg, and we see Appomattox and Yorktown crossing swords in the morning sunlight. And if we could, with prophetic eyes, look into the Great Beyond we could see the Old Guard of the Revolution, the Civil War and the Spanish-American War with unbroken ranks and faithful still, keeping watch over the country that their elder valor created and their younger valor saved. The soldiers of America, who have fallen in defense of the old flag have left us a glorious heritage.

A flag respected and honored on land and sea by every nation of the world. Let yours and old pledge anew their devotion to the flag handed down to us without a stain upon its folds.

One parting word, my comrades, one and all. You are veterans in age as well as service now. Your heads are gray, your steps faltering, your ranks are thinning; and Death, the great recruiting officer, is rapidly enrolling you in the ranks of the comrades on the other side. Veterans of the Great March, you are steadily tramping behind an unflinching leader, the Shoreless sea. Gray and grizzled soldiers who held with undying grip the heights of Gettysburg on that terrible but immortal day. You, who with mighty swarms stormed Lookout Mountain and planted your banners among the stars. Ye, who charged through the pines at Chickamauga with Pap Thomas and fell bleeding on that bloody field, we shall soon storm the gates of Death and be crowned with immortal honors.

Then my comrades, when the last hour has come to us all when no loud reveille shall call us again to the stern battle of life, when the last tattoo is beaten, when the bugle shall sound taps and lights out forever, shall we be worthy to join the immortal ranks of the comrades on the other side, when time and earth and hostile armies are no more.

And now break ranks and farewell.

"Cover the hearts that have beaten so high,

Heaven with hopes that were born but to die;

Hearts that have burned in the heat and fray,

Hearts that have yearned for the homes far away;

Hearts that beat high in the charge's loud tramp;

Hearts that fell low in the prison's foul damp.

Press to your heart these dead heroes of ours,

And cover them over with beautiful flowers."

STERRETT'S BOND IS FORFEITED

UPON HIS FAILURE TO APPEAR SQUIRE M. O. NASH ON FRIDAY

To Answer to a Serious Charge Preferred by His Daughter—News of the Courts.

The case of the State of Ohio against Clarence W. Sterrett, a well known farmer residing about seven miles north of the city, who is charged with criminally assaulting his fourteen-year-old daughter, Ola Belle Sterrett, has created great indignation in this city, and in the neighborhood where the parties reside. Ever since Sterrett was sent to jail on Monday in default of $500 bond, strenuous efforts have been made to obtain bondsmen for the amount and secure his release. Thursday afternoon the defendant's brother, Johnston F. Sterrett, appeared before the court and signed his name to the bond, with that of the defendant, and the defendant was released until the hearing which was set for 9 o'clock Friday morning, before Justice Nash. Johnston Sterrett made affidavit that he had a one-half interest in a farm in Mary Ann township, of 68 acres, worth at least $50 per acre; that there is a mortgage of $500 on the premises, and that he has horses, cattle and farm implements worth at least $500, and that he also has a one-sixth interest in 45 acres in Washington township.

When the case was called Friday morning there was an immense crowd of people on hand, and many were unable to gain admittance to the court room. The attorneys for the state, Messrs. Smythe & Smythe, and Russell & Horner for the defense, were on hand, but no defendant. After waiting for a reasonable length of time and the defendant failing to appear, the court declared the bond forfeited.

The attorneys for the defendant filed motions before Justice Nash to dismiss the case because the justice has no jurisdiction in Newark township and is not legally entitled to hold the office; also because the affidavit does not set out the name of the girl upon whom the assault was made.

It is quite likely that another warrant will be issued by Squire Nash for the arrest of Sterrett.

Since the arrest of Sterrett all kinds of rumors are in circulation regarding the death of Sterrett's wife which occurred about a year ago. Sterrett was arrested at the time but was dismissed at the preliminary hearing.

Kimble Discharged.

In the case of the State of Ohio vs. Albert Kimble, charged with criminally assaulting his 14 year old niece, Pearl Boyles, Moyer McCleery rendered his decision Friday morning. He said that while the evidence tended to show that there was something in the charges, still the evidence was not sufficient to bind him over to a higher court, and he accordingly dismissed the case. For the same reason the case against Jesse Kimble, grandfather of the girl, was dismissed.

Probate Court.

The Probate court will be open continuously all day next Monday, pension day, until 7 o'clock in the evening, in order to accommodate the old soldiers who may desire to have their pension vouchers filled out.

W. W. Simmons, administrator of the estate of Amos Watson, has filed his first and final account.

In Common Pleas.

In the case of Charles Whitehead vs. Edwin Doe and others, the defendants have filed a motion in the Common Pleas court to require the plaintiff to give new and additional surety on his injunction bond, for the reason that the present surety is not sufficient and if said motion be not complied with, then this action with respect to the injunction be dismissed. Wayne Collier, attorney for defendants.

Exceptions Filed.

The exceptions filed by A. A. Stasel, attorney for the heirs of George Brown, deceased, against the accounts of James F. Ingafelter as administrator of George Brown, were heard in the Probate court on Thursday afternoon. The exceptions were all sustained with the exception of the one against the charge of B. G. Smythe for legal services rendered in foreclosure of mortgage, which charge was allowed by the court. The court ordered Mr. Ingafelter to strike out the item of $15 from the account as a charge for special services in the foreclosure of mortgage; also ordered Mr. Ingafelter to charge himself with the sum of $204 which he had deposited in the Newark Savings bank, and which was subsequently lost; also ordered him to charge himself with $283, the proceeds of the mortgage foreclosure, and that the account should be made final.
